Petition concerning the protection of sharks within the Canadian coastal line

Therefore we graciously ask that the Government of Canada protect all sharks within the Canadian coastal line until reproductive age has been reached. The protection should include the two year range certain shark species need to reproduce and carry their young. Physical distinctions and lengths can be used to determine whether a shark has reached reproductive age. This protection will help ensure population growth, a fishing industry for years to come, and the overall health of the ocean.
